Catherine Doran specialises in insolvency, commercial and property law and has extensive High Court experience. She is ranked as a leading junior by Legal 500 and Chambers & Partners, where she is described as "an excellent advocate". Having previously been appointed Junior Counsel to the Crown, Catherine has a particular expertise in directors' disqualification.

In 2023 Catherine was appointed as a court examiner. This appointment is effective for 5 years, starting from Wednesday 1st of March.

Catherine is also called to the Bar of Trinidad & Tobago.

INSOLVENCY

Catherine has extensive experience of corporate and personal insolvency, with a particular interest in directors' disqualification.

When Catherine was on HM Attorney General's Panel she regularly acted for the Secretary of State and Official Receiver in disqualification claims, section 17 applications, BRO claims and public interest winding up petitions. She is therefore well placed to advise individuals against whom proceedings have been threatened or commenced, and is frequently instructed by directors.

Catherine's practice includes drafting and appearing on winding up and bankruptcy petitions, applications relating to statutory demands, annulments, validation orders, applications for administration orders and injunctions to prevent presentation and advertisement.

Catherine acts for and against officeholders in transaction avoidance claims, misfeasance claims, possession claims, applications for private examination, remuneration applications and extending administrations.

Catherine has written chapters of Tolley's Insolvency Law and the Insolvency Litigation Handbook. She was a member of the committee which drafted the Company Directors Disqualification Practice Direction.

Reported cases include:

- Re Kids Company – Official Receiver v Atkinson and others [2020] EWHC

2839 and [2021] EWHC 175 – acting for the trustees who successfully resisted a disqualification order

- Georgallides v Secretary of State for Business Energy and Industrial Strategy [2020] EWHC 768 – acting for a director seeking to rescind his disqualification undertakings
- Secretary of State for Business Innovation and Skills v Rahman [2017] EWHC 2468 (Ch) – acting in an appeal against a disqualification period
- Cook v Revenue and Customs Commissioners [2017] B.P.I.R. 1468 – appearing in a bankruptcy annulment application
- Canning v Irwin Mitchell LLP [2017] EWHC Civ 718 – acting in an appeal in bankruptcy proceedings
- Pioneer Cladding Ltd v John Graham Construction Ltd [2015] EWHC 1314 (QB) – appearing in a case considering whether leave under section 130 Insolvency Act 1986 was required.

PROPERTY

Catherine has considerable experience in the county courts and First Tier Tribunal (Residential Property) acting for landlords and tenants. She has appeared in cases involving trespassers, rent arrears, service charge disputes, breaches of covenant, section 168 Commonhold and Leasehold Reform Act 2002 determinations and forfeiture. She has advised on various issues arising from residential and business tenancies.

Catherine has advised on real property matters including boundary disputes, restrictive covenants and nuisance claims. She appeared in the Court of Appeal for the successful respondents in a neighbour dispute in Cocking v Eacott [2016] EWCA Civ 140.

Catherine often advises and appears for mortgagees in possession and forfeiture cases.

COMPANY

Catherine has considerable experience of company law, including unfair prejudice petitions, applications to extend time for the registration of charges and restoring companies to the Register. Catherine has acted for individuals seeking to trade under what would otherwise be a prohibited name, pursuant to section 216 Insolvency Act 1986 and wrote the chapter on prohibited names in the Insolvency Litigation Handbook.

Catherine has a particular interest in claims and applications involving directors' disqualification.

MEDIATION AND ARBITRATION

Catherine has experience of in-person and remote mediations across the range of her practice areas

COMMERCIAL DISPUTES

Catherine's commercial practice includes breach of contract claims, shareholder disputes, guarantees, loan agreements and enforcement of judgments.

She recently appeared in a commercial matter in the Trinidad & Tobago Court of Appeal.
