Piers Digby has an extensive chancery practice extending across insolvency & restructuring, company law, commercial disputes, wills, trusts and estates, and probate. He regularly appears in the High Court and County Court as sole counsel, and has experience with appellate cases.

Piers has previously taken secondments at both the Financial Conduct Authority and a leading UK bank, and has a thorough understanding of regulatory issues relating to banking and consumer credit more widely. He knows how to work with solicitors and clients under challenging conditions, combining legal ability beyond his call with an approachable manner.

Prior to joining Chambers, Piers worked in consulting on public sector contracts before attaining a distinction in his LLM at Hughes Hall, Cambridge. He was the Richard Yorke Scholar at Gray's Inn.

COMMERCIAL, COMPANY, AND BANKING

Piers accepts instructions across a range of commercial disputes, acting for both individuals and larger corporate structures. He has expertise in disputes relating to the interpretation and enforcement of sales disputes; construction disputes; loans, debentures, guarantees, securities and mortgages; claims in misrepresentation and mistake; trusts and related structures in the commercial setting; and consumer protection.

Notable highlights include:

- acting for a prominent industry insurer in an insurance dispute with developers about the extent of developer obligations under the contract and the application of an arbitration clause
- advising a corporate group on a contested pre-action disclosure application brought by a minority shareholder looking to pursue an unfair prejudice petition (settled successfully)
- acting in a satellite proceedings for a declaration of unenforceability in respect of several loan agreements totalling £6.3million on the basis of an unfair relationship under the Consumer Credit Act 1974 and misrepresentation
- sole Counsel in a successful high profile art dispute over the existence and terms of a contract to exhibit a Bosco Sodi painting, reported variously in the Times, the Daily Mail, and the Guardian
- acting in a dispute over the terms of an agency agreement in relation to the sale of high-value property based on the enforceability of an entire agreement clause and whether subsequent conduct was a novation or an amendment of the original contract

INSOLVENCY AND RESTRUCTURING

Piers has a busy insolvency practice, appearing for office-holders, creditors and debtors both individual and corporate in both personal and company insolvency. He regularly appears as a sole advocate before the High Court whilst still taking County Court work, and has dealt with insolvency applications relating to winding-up and bankruptcy petitions; the restraint of advertisement; setting aside statutory demands; annulment of bankruptcy orders; misfeasance; transactions at an undervalue and preferential transactions; applications for public and private examination; administration orders, administration extension orders, and office-holder remuneration orders; vesting orders; and enforcement measures such as interim and final charging orders.

Notable highlights include:

- an application for conversion of an administration to a voluntary winding-up following company creditors failing to approve the administrator's proposals, in line with the Re Stanleybet UK Investments Ltd [2011] EWHC 2820 (Ch) jurisdiction
- an application by a notable film and Hollywood technology supplier for an on-going validation order in respect of their ordinary course of business, allowing the company to continue trading and avoid collapse
- an application for examination of an absconded former liquidator concerning her role in the winding up of various companies antecedent to committal proceedings
- parallel proceedings in misfeasance and in contract under the new procedural structure introduced following Manolete Partners plc v Hayward and Barrett Holdings Ltd & Ors [2021] EWHC 1481
- an application for remuneration of a liquidator where the appointment and timing of the appointment of the liquidator were subject to potential dispute

PRIVATE CLIENT

Piers is regularly instructed in private client matters, with a measured and impressive manner supporting clients across sensitive and difficult legal areas. He appears before both the High Court and the County Court across the full extent of private client work, acting or advising in proceedings relating to testamentary capacity, knowledge and approval, undue influence, and fraudulent calumny; claims under the Inheritance (Provision for Family and Dependents) Act 1975; applications to remove trustees and administrators; applications for accounts and declarations as to beneficial interests; common intention constructive trusts and proprietary estoppel; and breach of trust and devastavit.

Notable highlights include:

- appearing as sole counsel before the High Court in the prominent Scherbakova estate dispute in applications for the disclosure of further evidence and provision of witness statements on material points
- successfully preventing summary judgment against beneficiaries in a complex matter relating to a derivative claim against a debtor of an estate where the administrator was suspected of collusion with a third party and a conflict of interest
- advising on and appearing in an application for the court's approval of a complex intestacy settlement involving a minor (on-going)
- advising on a claim for a common intention constructive trust and rectification of transfer deeds in a high-value family property dispute (on-going)
- advising on prospects successful removal of an administrator and recovery where the administrator and former attorney of the deceased had spent the deceased's money allegedly for care purposes but without providing proper account
